Arizona State University's Language meetup groups/student orgs

- Check out international, cultural and/or foreign language student organizations at ASU
- Attend SILC Café meetings (Wednesdays 1:30-2:30pm LL165) on the Tempe Campus. The club allows students to chat and snack with their peers and gives them an opportunity to improve upon their foreign language proficiency. Great for networking/collaborating with the faculty.
- Live in an international residence hall (McClintock Hall) for additional language exposure.
- Explore Changemaker Central for service, involvement and civic engagement locally or abroad.
- Network and collaborate with student orgs on your campus
- Also consider creating a student organisation of your own. The faculty can be an invaluable resource since they can inform students about your club and collaborate with you and other faculty members. Creating a club looks amazing on a resume and tells future employers that you can take the initiative and actively solve problems. The world needs “go getters” and creating your own club is a great way to learn how to get the job done.
