Join Generation Study Abroad

Generation Study Abroad is a five-year initiative launched by the Institute of International Education in March 2014 to double the number of U.S. college students studying abroad by the end of the decade. Putting IIE's resources behind this campaign highlights the commitment to increasing study abroad that has been so much a part of the Institute's mission for our first 95 years.

Following are IIE-administered scholarship and fellowship programs for U.S. students.

Benjamin A. Gilman International Scholarship Program

Sponsored by the U.S. Department of State's Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs, the Gilman Scholarship supports U.S. undergraduates of high financial need at two- year or four-year colleges or universities in the U.S. to study or intern abroad for academic credit. Awards are granted for fall, spring, summer, and academic year terms of up to $5,000, or $8,000 for students studying a critical need language.

Deadline: March for Summer & Fall/Academic Year programs; October for Spring & Summer programs | www.iie.org/gilman

Boren Scholarships & Fellowships

Funding from the National Security Education Program (NSEP) supports U.S. undergraduate and graduate students to study less commonly taught languages in regions critical to U.S. interests: Africa, Asia, Central and Eastern Europe, Eurasia, Latin America, and the Middle East. Up to $20,000 is awarded to undergraduates and $30,000 to graduate students. Recipients commit to work in the federal government for at least one year after graduation.

Deadline: January for graduate students; February for undergraduates | www.borenawards.org

Fulbright U.S. Student Program

Sponsored by the U.S. Department of State's Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs, Fulbright is the largest U.S. international exchange program offering opportunities for students, scholars and professionals to undertake international graduate study, advanced research, university teaching, and teaching in elementary and secondary schools worldwide. The Fulbright U.S. Student Program provides grants for individually designed study/research projects or for English Teaching Assistant Programs. Grant lengths and dates vary by country.

Deadline: October | www.us.fulbrightonline.org

U.S. students who study abroad are gaining the international exposure and cross-cultural knowledge they will need for their future role in an increasingly interdependent world.

Confucius China Studies Program

The Confucius China Studies Program supports doctoral and master's degree students from U.S. universities to undertake advanced language training, coursework, and guided research related to Chinese studies at a Chinese institution. The program is open to both U.S. and international non-Chinese students from U.S. institutions. The duration of the award is from six months to two years. For more information about the program, eligibility requirements, and the application process please visit the website.

Deadline: January / February | www.iie.org/ccsp

Global E3

The Global Engineering Education Exchange is a consortium-based study abroad opportunity for undergraduate (and some graduate) engineers to be exchanged between top U.S. and international engineering university programs in Asia, Australia, Europe, Latin America, and the Middle East. Students in the program take engineering coursework in an international setting while earning credit and paying tuition at their home university. More than 30 U.S. engineering schools and 70 programs in over 20 other countries worldwide are members of this academic exchange consortium (Global E3) administered by IIE.

Deadline: March for Fall Semester/Academic Year; October for Spring Semester | www.globale3.org

Schwarzman Scholars

Schwarzman Scholars Inspired by the Rhodes Scholarship, Schwarzman Scholars is a highly selective international scholarship program designed to prepare future leaders for success in a world where China plays a key global role. The program will give the world's best and brightest students the opportunity to develop their leadership skills through a fully-funded one-year Master's Degree at Tsinghua University – one of China's most prestigious universities. For those ready to make their mark on the world, Schwarzman Scholars is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to access world-class curriculum and faculty, learn beyond the classroom, and engage in multi-dimensional leadership training.

Deadline: October 1 | www.schwarzmanscholars.org

Whitaker International Program

The Whitaker International Program supports international collaboration in the growing field of biomedical engineering, from graduating seniors to post-doctorate degree holders. The Whitaker International Program sends emerging leaders in U.S. biomedical engineering (or bioengineering) overseas to undertake a self-designed project that will enhance their careers. In addition to supporting research, it encourages grantees to engage in policy work and propose projects in an industry setting. The award covers airfare, living expenses, and tuition reimbursements up to $10,000 for Fellows.

Deadline: Mid-January for Fellows and Scholar applicants; February for Summer applicants | www.whitaker.org
